Howdy,

My name is Kevin Hubert, and I'm a seasoned frontend web developer from Austin, Texas. I'm interested in a position at your company and believe I would make significant contributions to your team.

With over 12 years of experience, I offer senior-level web development skills and am an expert in frontend technologies. While much of my experience is as a frontend developer, I've also trained and advanced my back end development skills, making me a valuable and robust technical asset.

Throughout my career, I've been dedicated to creating efficient, scalable, and maintainable code. My skills and personality lend themselves to excellent cross-team and inter-team communication, whether working with marketing and product departments or leading meetings with international teams.

My work experience includes ecommerce, mobile banking software, higher education, and freelance projects. My analytical approach to problems, creative solutions, and technical growth has contributed to the overall performance of past teams. Consider the following highlights from my most recent position:
- Refactored legacy applications/sites to mobile first responsive designs using modern frameworks such as Reactjs and Angular
- Authored over 100 reusable React components to be utilized in customer-facing applications
- Led efforts to improve Core Web Vitals, resulting in 25% decreased load time across multiple products

I look forward to the new opportunities and challenges of this role, and I'm eager to share my skills and experience with a new team. Please feel free to contact me to schedule a time to talk.

Thanks,

Kevin